The Future in BIM Enabled Integrated Project Delivery

What has been our charter?

- Maintained our commitment and investment to this industry reform agenda
- Maintained our enthusiasm to develop standards, workflows and best practice guidelines
- Clear deliverable that we must broaden initiative for all services and entire supply chain
- Continuous improvement is our mantra and embedding the requirements of the supply chain
- Translated conceptual theories in 2010 into tangible and practical industry capabilities
- Committed to get the best available International and Australian presenters

What is the state of play with respect to BIM/IPD?

- Most large projects are now being specified to include delivery of an As-Built BIM Model
- The focus has seen a rapid move in leveraging the model data content in supporting construction delivery and helping project teams in the field
- BIM/IPD capability is proving to become a clear point of difference in the Australian marketplace

What have we achieved since our last forum?

- Developed the three year Strategic Plan and actions
- Commissioned international research testing the effectiveness of the initiative with Global industry leaders
- Re-established the Software Management Committee
- Educated Clients and Government at all levels about the benefits of BIM, and increased engagement
- Revised best of breed foundation standards and specifications
- Released the next generation BIM-MEP<sup>AUS</sup> Autodesk Revit National Template add-in
- Supported broader industry responses to BIM
- Released the first phase of training – BIM-MEP<sup>AUS</sup> 101 aligned to our industry career pathway
